Poll Results

What is OER?
How did it come to be?

Open Educational Resources are teaching, learning and research materials in any medium – digital or otherwise – that reside in the public domain or have been released under an open license that permits no-cost access, use, adaptation and redistribution by others with no or limited restrictions.

How does this help
students learn?

Student benefits of OER

Beyond cost savings

Why do students need permanent access to the content?

- Multi-semester courses
- Retaking the course
- Reference for advanced courses
- Studying for higher education entrance exams + certification exams
- Changing careers
- Lifelong learning

Any of the above could mean a student needs to purchase another access code or rent the content again

How does this help
instructors teach?

Faculty benefits of OER

Increasing academic freedom

- Every student has immediate & unlimited access
- Standard scope & sequence makes it easy to adopt
- Variety of technology partners allows choice
- Permission-free use, editing, + adaptation
- Variety of formats/partners eliminates one size fits all
- Ownership of the content. Forever
- Ancillaries that can be used at any institution, minimizing faculty course prep

Perspectives on Digital versus Print: Growing acceptance of digital as learning materials

Faculty belief that physical materials are better for learning than digital is declining

COST FACTOR: MAJORITY AGREE THAT COURSE MATERIAL COSTS ARE A PROBLEM ACROSS THE COUNTRY

Agreement with the statement "The cost of the course materials is a serious problem for my students."

64% of faculty believe cost is a serious problem for students

Textbook Formats: Many options for students though print still dominates

Faculty: Primary Textbook Student Availability (select all)

Two-thirds of faculty reported that their textbooks are available in more than one format

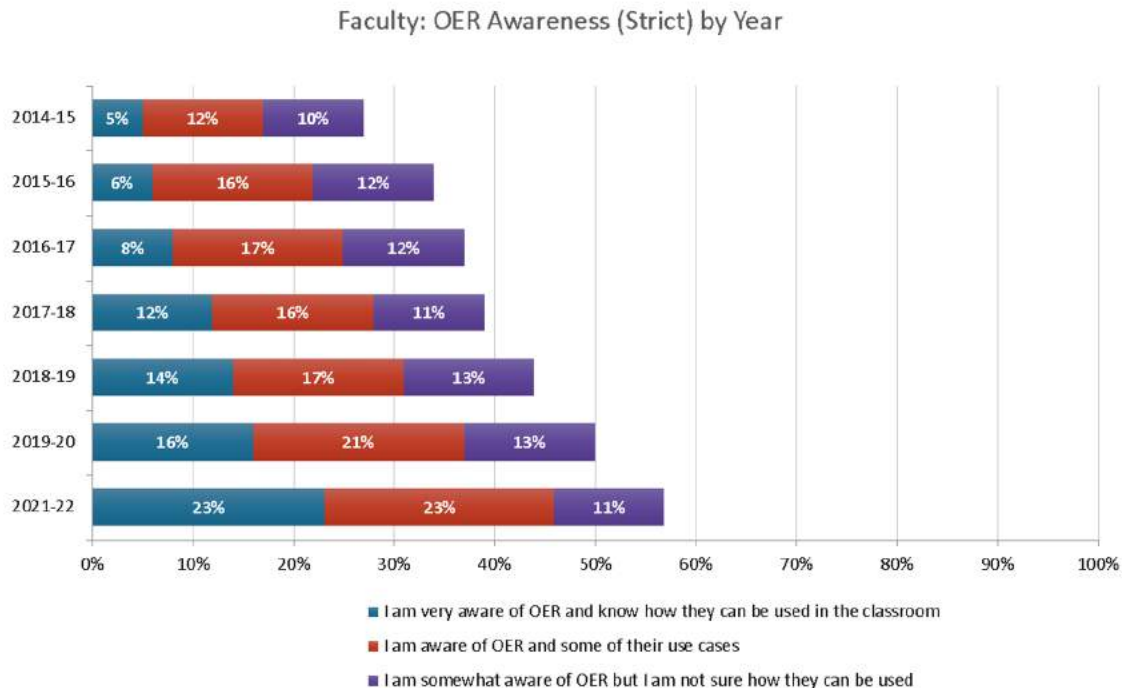

Faculty were asked to consider their largest enrollment course when answering
Only asked to 60% of faculty who require textbooks

The future of OER in a pandemic landscape

THE OER TIMELINE

The Advent of “Inclusive Access”

- Commercial publishers’ strategies emphasized quickly moving to digital-first or digital-only distribution.
- Market dynamics suggest an accelerated conversion from print to digital is feasible.
- Subscription arrangements have potential to greatly increase market share across campuses.

Inclusive Access

Subscription-based marketing where students pay a fee (usually included in tuition or fees) for access to a suite of online digital resources.

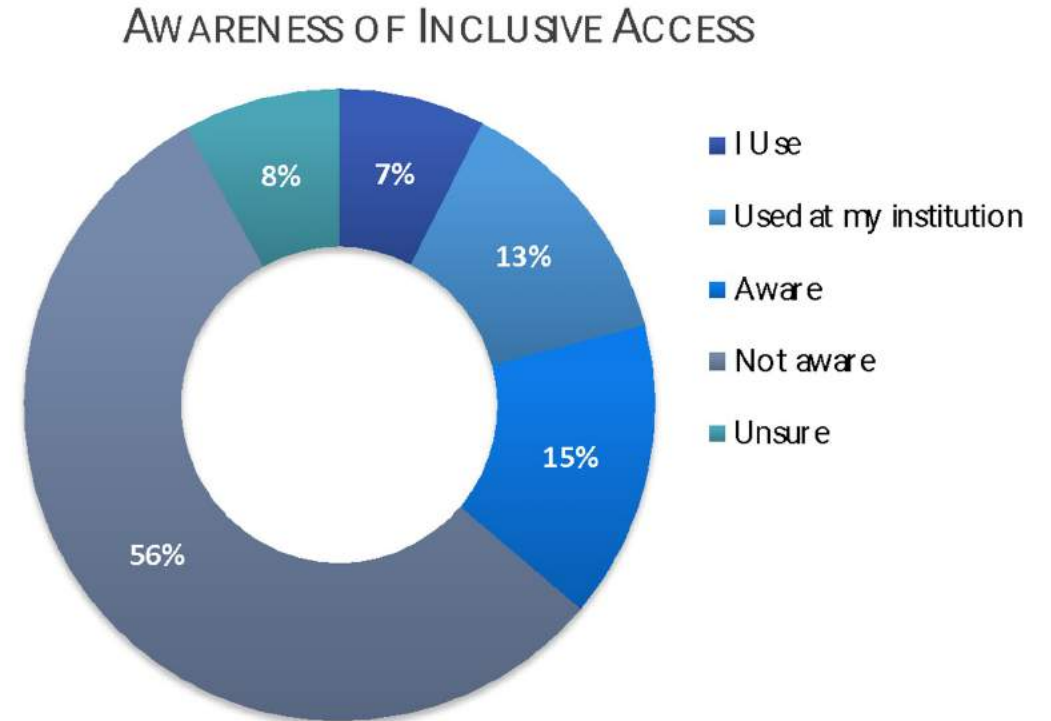

Net impact is the potential for commercial publisher to block competitors like OER on campuses.

INCLUSIVE ACCESS AWARENESS INCREASED MUCH FASTER THAN OER

In only a few years, Inclusive Access reached the level of faculty awareness that took OER 15+/- years.

Inclusive Access addresses critical faculty issues:

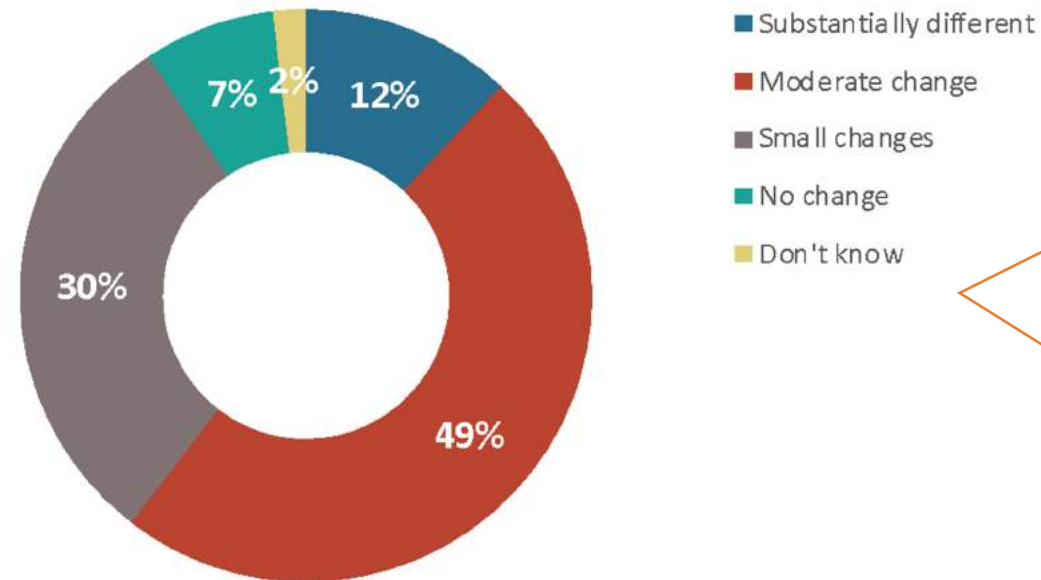

- Cost and Access
- “Students don’t think they need it”
- Publisher resentment

COVID-19 FORCED TEACHING TO CHANGE; THE CHANGES WILL CONTINUE

Will your future teaching techniques change as a result of your teaching experiences during the pandemic?

Less than 10% of faculty state there will be no change to their teaching techniques from the pandemic

Teaching Modalities: Majority of faculty in the country want an option to teach online

What is next for OER awareness and use?

STAGNATION

DECREASE

TEACHING (AND INSTITUTIONS) HAVE CHANGED

- Faculty are using new teaching techniques and more digital resources; many will continue post-pandemic.
- Many curriculum decisions were put on hold and will be reviewed over the next few years.
- Almost all publishers now offer full suite of digital curriculum materials.
- Many initiatives and institutions introduced faculty to alternative digital options, including OER.

Current Predictions for OER

Overwhelmingly digital future

- Strong faculty and student preference
- Publishers going digital-only or digital-first
- Print remains, among some disciplines (e.g., literature)

Inclusive Access is the new norm

- Strong foothold
- Best long-term model for publishers
- Institutional level decision

OER continues its slow growth

- Still only one viable provider (OpenStax)
- Most faculty remain unaware
